Former bank managers present were R. J. Hill, of Calgary, and

Funeral Services Held For The Late Wm. Kovach, M.L.A.

William Kovach, 57, Social Credit M.L.A. for the Pincher Creek-Crows Nest constituency, was found dead in the Moss Creek area.

Mr. Kovach left his ranch at Hillcrest four days ago to go fishing and when he did not return a search was launched. The RCMP tracking dog from High River was brought to the area, and Mr. Kovach's body was found 1 1/2 miles near the Upper Burmis Lumber Camp, south of his home.

Heart Seizure
Death was said to be due to a heart seizure. He had not been in good health for some time.

A native of the Crows Nest area, Mr. Kovach worked as a coal miner before entering politics in 1948 when he was first elected to the legislature. He was re-elected in 1952, 1955, 1959 and in the last election in 1963.

Mr. Kovach was born in Passburg, January 30, 1909, and attended schools in Passburg and Burmis. After school he worked with crews grading highways through the "Pass area and making railway grades in Saskatchewan.

In 1926 Mr. Kovach went to work in a coal mine at Bellevue and later worked at prospecting, operating a taxi and trapping until he took a job with Hillcrest Collieries in the early 1930's. He remained there until the mine shut down in 1939, and during part of the time was recording secretary at Hillcrest for the United Mine Workers of America.

After the Hillcrest mine closed, Mr. Kovach went to work for the Hillcrest-Mohawk mine and later joined West Canadian Collieries, first prospecting and later working in the company's Bellevue mine.

Mr. Kovach quit mining in June, 1947, to run livestock on his ranch and operate a trucking business at Hillcrest. He abandoned these pursuits to enter politics and sell insurance on a part time basis.

Mr. Kovach married the former Mary Yuris of Hillcrest in 1933 and the couple has three children, Elaine Hazel, Jean Helen and William Marvin. He was a member of the United Church.

Funeral service was completed by Hall's Funeral Service of Blairmore.

Neil Reimer Prov. Leader N.D.P. Addresses Meeting

Stating "that the winds of change are blowing," Neil Reimer, Provincial leader of the NDP, rapped the Alberta Social Credit government and Premier Manning, and urged the local NDP members to get busy and elect one of its own local members to replace the late William Kovach, Social Credit MLA for the Crows Nest Pass - Pincher Creek constituency.

Mr. Reimer stated that Mr. Kovach was a fine MLA and that he had served the people of the Pass well. He stated that a bye-election could be called and if so the NDP should be ready. He added that the Social Credit government, in power for the past 30 years, were no longer following the original programs they had planned and Albertans were no longer satisfied. He suggested the NDP should set an early nominating date because should an early election be called, or a general election, the Social Credit group now having no incumbent, would find it hard to get a candidate.

The eyes of all Alberta will be on the Crows Nest Pass he said, if an early election is called to fill the Social Credit vacancy and he prophesied that "the way the Crows Nest Pass goes there is a good chance that is the way the province will go."

Mr. Reimer criticized the action of the Alberta government on its oil and gas leases, the tar sands, the medicare program and other matters.

Clarence Lyons, of Saskatchewan, Federal organizer for the CCF in Saskatchewan, Alberta and Manitoba, was present and gave a resume of the increasing popularity and growth of the NDP across the Dominion.

Also present at the meeting, attended by 50 persons, was Grant Nolte, provincial secretary of the NDP and Douglas Murdoch, president of the Federation of Labor of Calgary. Chairman of the meeting held in the Coleman Union hall on Sunday night, was Bob Salant of Coleman.

Nominating convention will be held in the Blairmore Elks hall on Saturday, September 10th.

Jehovah's Witnesses Watch Tower Convention

N. H. Knorr, president of the Watch Tower Society, told 28,750 attentive listeners, including several local delegates, of "better things to come under a heavenly kingdom established in 1914," at a packed-to-capacity Empire Stadium in Vancouver, B. C., Sunday afternoon.

The unusual title of Mr. Knorr's public address, "What Has God's Kingdom Been Doing Since 1914?" has captured the attention of Vancouverites. It is based on the Witnesses' belief that Bible chronology indicates the world wide rule of the Gentile nations began in 607 B.C. and ended 1914 A.D., ushering in God's heavenly kingdom as promised by Christ.

Mr. Knorr stressed that fixing the date of 1914 as the end of complete world rule by the nations is not a new thought, but "more than 35 years in advance of that significant year, by the help of God's holy spirit, dedicated Bible students calculated the Gentile times as due to expire in the early autumn of 1914, even as religious leaders ridiculed them for publishing such a Bible time schedule."

Quoting liberally from the Bible and using "historians' comments," Mr. Knorr indicated that 1913 was the last normal year in human history and "1914 was indeed the turning point, bringing in an age of violence, disturbance and unsettledness that is without parallel in all human history."

"God's kingdom will replace man's rule and this is now the big issue before all mankind," he said. "Millions now living, who viewed events in 1914, are part of a generation destined to see even more wonderful things, things that will spell out correctly, without the danger of being misread, the real meaning of happenings that began back there in the unforgettable year 1914 A.D." concluded Mr. Knorr.

For local Witnesses it has been five days of listening and note-taking at the largest convention ever held in Vancouver. New Bible aids were released to aid area Witnesses in their door-to-door ministry. A new song book was distributed and new words and music, to the praise of the Creator, were sung enthusiastically by the large audience, accompanied by a 120-piece orchestra and chorus. A mass baptism was also a highlight of the conference.

As the thousands of delegates streamed from the Stadium to the four corners of the earth, Vancouverites stated unequivocally, that this indeed was the most profound, orderly gathering ever assembled in their fair city.

Mrs. Cornett Passed Away

Mrs. Mary Estella Cornett passed away at her home on August 23rd after a period of ill health.

She has resided here for the past 47 years. Mrs. Cornett was a member of the Victoria Rebekah Lodge, the Senior Citizens Organization and was of the Anglican Faith. She was predeceased by her husband in a mine accident here in 1935.

Surviving are one son, Melville of Coleman and one daughter, Mrs. Helen Houde of Calgary, six grandchildren and 15 great grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held from St. Alban's Anglican Church at 2 p.m. on Friday August 26 with Reverend Clarence Babcock officiating. Interment will follow in the family plot Coleman Union Cemetery. Fantin's Hillside Chapel officiated.

Centennial Report

1867-1967

by JOHN W. FISHER
CENTENNIAL COMMISSIONER

Report No. 10—

A young man recently asked me how I can talk with such enthusiasm about this nation Canada and stir up patriotism when, he said, many of the world's ills are caused by nationalism.

That is a fair question from a young student who, perhaps for the first time, is taking a serious look at the world around him and finds so many discouraging problems.

The young student sees, on the one hand, some small nations with their recently won "freedom" — jealous of their neighbors and wanting to develop power of their own — and on the other hand, some of the large established countries seeking to dominate the whole lot. Small wonder young people today are a little cynical about nationalism.

The best answer I could find at hand for the young student was in the text of a talk on Centennial celebrations for 1967 given by one of my own staff members to an Ottawa audience. A young man himself, the speaker reviewed some of our plans for Canada's 100th birthday and he closed his talk this way:

"Is it really worth living in Canada? Is it worth keeping Canada together? . . . Personally, I don't feel moved by nationalism or patriotism enough to become a flag wagging extrovert extolling virtues of my country. It's a thing of the past to want to become the most powerful country in the world. 'Nationalism,' he said, 'is not going to save the human race from destruction. In my view the direction of internationalism is the only one in which civilization can travel and survive. That means people getting along with people. It means our freedom is restricted by the freedom of others.

"I believe that the example of many peoples in Canada getting along well together and with others in the world is a worthwhile reason for our existence as a nation. It is with that in mind that I am an ardent Canadian, that I am working for a successful national celebration in 1967," he said.

How often I have criticized Canadians for lying on the psychiatric couch searching in a neurotic dreamworld for some imaginary purpose or identity! Here a young man expresses a worthwhile purpose so simply, without the rolling of drums and the waving of flags. He doesn't need the old trappings of patriots nor does he need the contrived imagery of extroverted nationalism.

We have 100 years of history behind us without the stigma of colonialism, without a reputation for aggression against others in the world and without quarrels in our own family that we could not overcome. Is not our young ardent Canadian right in claiming that the fact we continue to keep our country together, proving that a family of many ethnic origins and cultures can get along well, is reason enough to be proud of Canada?

Alberta Natural Gas Company Plans Large Expansion

Alberta Natural Gas Company, which less than two months ago began work on a $5.4 million, two-year construction program in the East Kootenay District of B. C., announced plans today for further expansion in 1968-69.

ANG owns and operates the British Columbia section of the 1400-mile Alberta - California natural gas pipeline.

The 1968-69 expansion was announced at ANG's home office in Calgary by Vice-president and Manager Robert Blair. It will involve an additional capital expenditure in the East Kootenay of about the same amount as the current program, Mr. Blair said.

ANG will seek government authorization to build a new compressor station near Elko, B. C., and also to enlarge the Moyle Station which is now under construction 25 miles south of Cranbrook. Detailed engineering design of the new facilities will commence soon and field construction is scheduled for 1968 and 1969.

Export Requested

The Alberta Natural Gas Company announcement coincided with announcement of a gas export application filed in Calgary by the pipeline company's gas purchasing and shipping affiliate, Alberta and Southern Gas Co. Ltd.

A&S requested the Alberta Oil and Gas Conservation Board to permit export of 1,600 trillion cubic feet of surplus Alberta gas over the next 25 years.

A&S soon will file an application with the National Energy Board in Ottawa for a licence to export the gas from Canada. Alberta Natural Gas Company will then apply to the same Board for a certificate of public convenience and necessity to construct the compressor units, Mr. Blair said.

In addition to ANG construction, affiliated companies in the U. S. Northwest and California will install new compressor units, the ANG manager said.

The Alberta Gas Trunk Line Co. Limited will extend its Poothill Division farther into northwestern Alberta and also will add compressor horsepower within Alberta in order to gather the new gas for the Alberta-California pipeline.

Pacific Gas Transmission Company, owner and operator of the Idaho-Washington-Oregon portion of the pipeline, intends to apply this fall to the U. S. Federal Power Commission for a licence to import the gas from Canada, Mr. Blair said.

Television Drivers Test To Be Repeated September 6th

The Canadian Drivers Test, a TV program originally broadcast in May on the CBC national network, will be repeated in its entirety on September 6 at 9:30 p.m. Through 22 questions, most with "true or false" answers, The Canadian Drivers Test permits the home viewer to rate his knowledge of defensive driving tactics. The initial program aroused such widespread demand for a repeat that CBC, with the Canadian Highway Safety Council's co-operation, decided to rebroadcast the complete program. A French language version, initially broadcast June 21st, will be repeated September 8th at 10 p.m.

When The Canadian Drivers Test was originally broadcast a group of high school driver education graduates outscored a 'body of professional drivers. Both groups were in the studio. Viewers will be able to mark their test forms at home, then compare their scores with the studio audience. Prior to the May program, CBC conducted a survey of a cross-section of Canadian drivers. The national average obtained will be shown for comparison.

Test forms will be available very shortly coast to coast from provincial and local safety councils, CBC offices and service stations of the sponsoring companies, Shell Canada Ltd. and White Rose.

Centennial Report

1867-1967

Report No. 9—

It is still possible to put a canoe into our Canadian rivers and tributaries and paddle to one of the oceans.

Eric W. Morse, an expert on our fur trade history, who has traversed and written about the old canoe routes of Canada, says there are as many miles of inland waterways in this country as in all the other nations of the world combined. In fact it is estimated that one-quarter of all the fresh water in the world is to be found in Canada.

In an article published a few years ago, called "Canoe Routes of the Voyageurs", Eric Morse suggested that sometimes, as much history can be learned from a canoe as from a history book. If that is the case—and I believe he is right—many of us are going to learn more about Canada's history when our attention is attracted to the 100-day Centennial Voyageur Canoe Pageant next year. From Rocky Mountain House, near the Alberta-British Columbia border, canoeers will dip their paddles and follow in the wake of voyageurs and fur traders along the early inland waterways. Their destination—Expo 67 at Montreal, a distance of some 4,000 miles!

The Centennial Canoe Pageant will create considerable excitement because it is to be a "race" between teams chosen by the various provinces of Canada and the territories. The race will be conducted according to rules similar to those of a car rally so that competitive spurts and stops can be made at communities for the teams' participation in local Centennial Celebrations. Like the old fur brigades, they will travel in flotillas and judging will be done on a points system.

While the race will create excitement it also will stir our imaginations. It will remind us how some of our colorful pioneers travelled and developed the early economy of Canada. It is incredible, as Eric Morse describes it, that in an age before air travel, in a land devoid of road or rail, on a route beset with obstructions, dangers and difficulties, men burdened with hundreds of tons of fur and trade goods succeeded each year in crossing over half a continent and back again in the scant five months between break-up and freeze-up.

The modern day "voyageurs" who have been chosen for the 1967 pageant have been getting into shape for the big event and this summer they will participate in advance trials. One of the test races will be held in August, in conjunction with British Columbia's Centennial celebrations, from Fort St. James down the Stuart River to Prince George and then down the Fraser River through Quesnel to Soda Creek. The crews will portage by trailer to Yale and then paddle on the Hope, New Westminster and Vancouver and across the strait to Victoria.

In other test races crews will shoot the treacherous Lachine Rapids (now within the boundaries of Metropolitan Montreal) and on to the Expo 67 site. From Montreal, the paddlers will move up the St. Lawrence, down the Richelieu through once hostile Mohawk country to Lake Champlain, then on to New York for the Labor Day week-end.

There, silhouetted against the Manhattan skyline and dwarfed by the sleek and modern ocean ships their journey will end for this year.

Twelve canoes of special design, resembling the old Northern canoe type used by the early voyageurs, are being built in Fredericton, New Brunswick, for the pageant. The first was tested in April on the North Saskatchewan River near Rocky Mountain House, Alberta.

The big race in the summer of 1967 will be one of the highlights of the Centennial. Many Canadians who live on the route will be able to witness the pageant and the others will enjoy following the teams by way of press, radio and television reports during the 100 days.

Think of it!—4,000 miles in 100 days. This includes portages over slimy rocks, up mountain sides—lifting their canoes and heavy loads of equipment—sleeping outdoors—soaked hundreds of times—tired, worried, storm-bound; and plagued by black flies, sand flies, mosquitoes. Well! I have two comments: our forefathers did it; I'm glad I was not invited.

Alberta Migratory Bird Regs., 1966

Alberta waterfowl hunters will be able to hunt more ducks and geese this year, according to the 1966 Migratory Birds Regulations, released today by the Canadian Wildlife Service, Department of Northern Affairs and National Resources.

The bag and possession limits for ducks have been raised to six: and 12, of which not more than three and six may be mallards. Not more than two canvasbacks or red-head ducks may be included in these daily limits. On or after October 14th two additional scaup or goldeneye may be taken per day and four additional may be possessed. Limits for geese this year are six and 12 of which not more than three and six may be white-fronted geese and of which not more than five and 10 may be Canada geese.

Limits for rails, coots and gallinules are six and 12, except that Indians, Eskimos, Metis and other persons living by trapping and hunting may take 25 daily with no possession limit. Limits for Wilson's snipe are 10 and 20.

This year, for the first time, every waterfowl hunter must purchase a Canada Migratory Game-Bird Hunting Permit. Sales records of this permit and questionnaires to some hunters will enable the Canadian Wildlife Service to find out the number of waterfowl hunters, where and when they hunt, how many birds of each species are killed and where and when these birds are killed. Such information—more accurate and complete than has been available before—will enable improved management and thus increase hunting opportunity. These permits are on sale now at post offices for $2.00.

Letter to the Editor

Alberta Tuberculosis Association
7004, 106th Street,
Edmonton, Alberta,
August 3, 1966.

News Editor,
Coleman Journal,
Coleman, Alberta.
Dear Sir:

On behalf of the Alberta Tuberculosis Association we would like to express our thanks and sincere appreciation to you for the publicity you gave the Mobile Chest X-ray and Tuberculin Testing Clinic held recently in Coleman.

The clinic was quite successful—this success, no doubt, due to the conscientious endeavor of the committees concerned and to the news media for giving us the necessary coverage.

Thank you for your personal interest in our program for the control and detection of tuberculosis and other respiratory diseases.

Yours very sincerely,
C. B. Pugh,
Director of Surveys and Programs.

Not long before he died, President Kennedy issued a challenge: "For too long we have neglected the mentally ill; this neglect must end." Compassionate understanding is now replacing punishment for the mentally ill, and recoveries are mounting. Read about it in the free pamphlet "What Is Mental Illness?" available from the Canadian Mental Health Association, 619 Revillon Building, Edmonton.

COLEMAN JOURNAL

TREAT YOUR MOTEL ROOM AS YOUR HOME

Did your last week-end guest do any of these things:

Leave a cigarette burn on the bedroom dresser?

Spill liquor on your carpet?

Use one of your fancy guest towels to wipe off his automobile?

Allow his dog to chew on your sofa?

Tuck some of your ash-trays, bedspreads and blankets into his luggage as he left?

Park his car in front of your driveway so you and other guests couldn't get in or out?

Cook a few meals in his room?

Carry away the key you loaned him?

If he did, you have some idea of how the manager of a hotel or motel feels when some of his guests have departed. Some of these actions by hotel guests are among the more common irritants which plague inn-keepers.

You can be a welcome guest, the B. C. Automobile Association advises, if you make yourself at home during your travels. Treat your quarters as if you were in one of your own rooms at home—where you'd have to pay for the damage yourself.

A popular and widely distributed BCAA pamphlet "The Inn-keeper and the Guest", makes this observation:

"One of the greatest contributions that can be made to more pleasant travel is an observance of the Golden Rule by both host and guest".

Here are a few general hints to help in your relationship with the inn-keeper:

Remember that every establishment has a certain number of rooms that cannot be increased during a busy season or reduced in dull times. Therefore, if you fail to reserve your accommodations in advance, don't be offended if the hotel or motel doesn't have what you want.

Even with advance reservations, you may not always get what you want at the time you want it. The room you want may not have been vacated. The manager can't force the occupant to leave, and you'll need to wait until he goes.

Once you are inside the room, treat it with respect. You may not like everything you see, but remember that much of this may be a matter of personal opinion.

BCAA has received letters in the same mail about the same motel—one highly critical, and the other highly laudatory.

Because you may have had one unsatisfactory experience don't assume it will be repeated every place you stop. You will find the personnel in most places considerate and hospitable.

So approach the registration desk in a friendly frame of mind, and be reasonable in your demands.

Elks Plan Vocational School For The Deaf

Representatives of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks of Canada, and its auxiliary, the Order of the Royal Purple, voted in favor of assisting deaf students in Canada at their annual convention held in Regina. The combined Orders will launch an investigation into the feasibility of establishing a vocational school for the deaf in Western Canada.

The Elks and the Royal Purple will seek government assistance and supplement the establishment of such a centre with financial aid from the Purple Cross Fund, the national objective of the two Orders.

Could Cost Two and a Half to Three Million Dollars

A vocational training centre of this kind could cost an estimated two and a half to three million dollars. A special committee representing the Orders will bring their decision down during 1967, at which time the building of the proposed centre will be adopted as a Centennial project.

W. J. Alton of Powell River, B. C., announced that Sam Dare of New Westminster, Past Exalted Ruler of the Order, will head the committee set up to investigate the establishment of a centre. Mr. Alton told the record turnout of 1500 delegates and visitors that "there is no provision in Canada to provide vocational training for the deaf".

New Exalted Ruler Elected

A Saskatchewan life insurance executive, Bob Coulling of Regina, was unanimously elected head of the 350 Elks Lodges throughout Canada at the annual convention of the Order held in his home city, July 25, 26 and 27. Assisting him in the administration of the 40,000 member Order are: R. Robert, Grand Leading Knight of Vegreville, Alberta, and Don Carlson, Grand Loyal Knight of Keremeos, B. C.

Powell River Lady Chosen

Mrs. Helen Johnson of Powell River, B. C., was elected Supreme Honored Royal Lady of the Order of the Royal Purple at the Regina convention held at the same time by the ladies auxiliary of the Elks.

Employment Good During July

Terry Robertson, manager of the National Employment Office in Blairmore, says the employment picture during the month of July has remained good and the future outlook remains bright. However, there still exists a continuing shortage of skilled workers throughout the area.

Statistics for the month of July indicate there were 188 males unemployed during the month of July. Discounting approximately 100 workers on temporary layoff or on holidays and seeking odd jobs, plus about 50 high school students seeking summer employment there remained only 38 unemployed males, most of whom were over the age of 60.

Operating coal mines have returned to full capacity following the holiday period and the demand will again be for the young experienced workers who are in short supply.

Mill and logging operators advise lumber production has been good, but a shortage of skilled workers is very evident.

The NES officer advised there were a number of job vacancies available for experienced workers and anyone seeking employment, or a change of employment, should call at the local office in Blairmore.

Mr. Robertson stated that local employers have co-operated well in providing employment for students, but wishes to remind local industry we still have a good number of eager young people seeking summer work.

TEN BOATING TIPS . . .

Boating is fast becoming the favorite pastime of vacationers all across the country. With the power boat owner in mind the Red Cross has sent along these ten boating tips:

- 1—Know and operate your craft well.
- 2—Know and obey the rules of the road.
- 3—Equip your boat with government approved safety equipment: life jacket for each person, two oars and oarlocks or two paddles, bailer or manual water pump, red distress flares, tool kit, first aid kit, fire extinguisher, anchor on 50 feet of line.
- 4—Carry and use the correct lights at night.
- 5—Don't overload the boat.
- 6—Use the recommended horsepower for the size of your boat.
- 7—Never smoke while refueling.
- 8—Check and heed weather reports before going out.
- 9—Wear a life jacket in choppy waters and at night.
- 10—If upset call for help and hang on to the boat until help arrives unless the boat is drifting into danger or the water is extremely cold.

There's more information on boating in the free booklet "Safety Afloat". Write the Marine Regulations Branch, Department of Transport, Ottawa. A complete safe boating course is available through the National Safety League Ottawa.

British tourist boom reaps healthy profit

LONDON — On the ramparts looking to the sea, the tourist men of Britain shout a warning of the great invasion. More tourists from Canada and other countries are flowing into Britain than ever before. And on the horizon they see vast new armadas, to fill British coffers with more gold.

Despite all the complaints of snarled traffic, over-crowded beaches and out-dated hotels, the visitors are flocking to the ancient relics, the great spires and awesome ritual in such numbers that soon tourism may threaten Britain's leading exports as money earners.

"In less than two decades," says the British Travel Association, "tourism has grown from practically nothing into one of the most powerful economic forces in the country."

Faces Competition

Here, as in other areas, Britain is meeting increasing competition from other tourist meccas, but the trend is expansive.

Britain earns more American dollars from tourists than from any export commodity, including whisky.

In 1964, a total of 2,456,000 visitors came to Britain, a rise from the 2,159,000 of 1963. The number from Canada increased to 160,000 from 145,000. This year the association expects the over-all total to rise to 2,700,000. By 1970 it could climb to 4,000,000.

Visitors to Britain are estimated to have spent about $870,000,000 in 1964, a figure that is expected to increase to $1,500,000,000 by 1970.

Many of the spenders are attracted to the British hinterland. To the Scottish games and festivals; to the Welsh and Irish countryside and to the picturesque fishing villages and superlative beaches along the Cornish coast. But the bulk of the visitors—about 50 per cent—head for London.

Facilities Needed

"The development of recreational traffic, particularly for sporting activities outside London, deserves more attention," the association suggests in its latest report.

Travel from the Commonwealth countries, notably Canada and Australia, "still accounts for over one-third of the total tourist spending in Britain," the association says. But it notes that a lot of overseas traffic is moving to Europe. Britain gets a large share of the outgoing European tourist trade.

Britain's share of the European market in 1964 was 1,167,000 visitors, the association estimates. They spent about $165,000,000.

"There is much to be done," says the association, "before we can be satisfied that the country is receiving an adequate share of European traffic."

Our Alberta Heritage GREAT NORTHWEST PIONEER VILLAGE

See how one man recaptured the spirit of Alberta's pioneer past.

The Great Northwest Pioneer Village is more than a museum — it is a monument to the pride one man has in our Alberta heritage. That man is Earl Danard, son of a pioneer family. He has assembled a fascinating collection of thousands of relics and artifacts, housed in twenty-five original pioneer buildings. Mr. Danard's unique collection includes antique cars and engines, cutters and buggies, the first Indian school (built on the Winterburn Reserve by Rev. A. B. Baird in 1883), and an authentic Greek Orthodox chapel that accommodates just two worshippers.

This living historical village represents a tremendous outlay of interest, time and effort in creating a unique tribute to the pioneer history of our Alberta.

Take your family out to visit the Great Northwest Pioneer Village soon. It's located just 120 miles west of Edmonton on Highway 16.

Fauville-Harrison Wedding

A very quiet wedding was solemnized on August 6th at St. Augustine's Anglican Church Lethbridge when Mrs. Lorene Harrison exchanged vows with Mr. August Fauville of Coleman.

The bride chose a three piece suit of blue peau-de-soie with a champagne-colored overlay. Her corsage was of sweetheart roses and lilies of the valley.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Marcel Deharnais of Blair more who wore a three piece yellow linen suit complimented by a corsage of yellow roses and lily of the valley.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Archie Hobson of Blairmore and the groom was attended by his brother, Emil Fauville of Lethbridge.

Mrs. Hobson chose a navy blue two-piece suit of jersey with a corsage of pink carnations while Mrs. Fauville was frocked in a two-piece turquoise suit with a corsage of yellow carnations.

A family reception was held in the Steak Room of the Marquis Hotel. Master of Ceremonies for the reception was the bride's nephew, Louis Hobson of Blairmore. The side tables were decorated with carnations and the head table with pink sweetheart roses surrounding a three tier wedding cake crowned with a miniature bride and groom.

The bride and groom trav elled to the Southwestern States for a honeymoon and upon their return will take up residence in Coleman.

Guests at the wedding included immediate members of the family from Blairmore, Coleman, Frank, Lethbridge, Calgary and Vancouver.

Marriage usually brings the responsibilities of parenthood, but some of us don't prepare ourselves to become parents as thoroughly as we prepare ourselves for a trip to Saskatchewan. Many helpful suggestions will be found in a free pamphlet entitled "Preparing For Parenthood", which you may have free, by writing to the Canadian Mental Health Association, 619 Revillon Building, Edmonton.

Engagement Announcement

Mr. and Mrs. W. Nickolaychuk of Smoky Lake, Alberta, wish to announce the engagement of their daughter, Gloria Jean, to Alan Daniel, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gate of Coleman. The wedding will take place Saturday, September 3rd, at Ritchie United Church, Edmonton with the Rev. A. Morrison, a former Coleman minister officiating.
